DR. JOHN BULL'S
SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP
FEVER and ACUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the direct ons are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

MAYFLOWER WINS.

The First of the International Yacht Races.

ALL NEW YORK TURNS OUT

The Greatest Yachting Day the Metropolis of the Eastern States has Ever Known—The Race a Magnificent Sight.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—This has been the greatest yachting day that New York has ever seen and another day of glory for Boston, for her latest and prettiest product of naval architecture, the sloop yacht Mayflower has won the first race of the international series against her powerful antagonist, the British cutter Galatea. With a steady whole sail breeze from the southward, which permitted each to carry all the light sails, the Galatea was beaten [illegible] minutes and 50 seconds actual time, or [illegible] minutes 2 seconds corrected time, the Mayflower having given her 38 seconds, the time allowance according to the New York Yacht club rules under which the races are sailed. The contest was eminently fair for both yachts, inasmuch as one half the course was almost all windward work, while the other half was with free sheets. Although the cutter was defeated, she has shown herself to be a faster yacht than the Genesta in a light breeze, and one that [illegible] very hard to defeat in a strong breeze and seaway. It has been

A DAY OF EXCITEMENT.

Such as is seldom seen in New York. From dawn till dark, afloat or ashore, in hotel, club or exchange, the yacht race was the leading topic of conversation. By 10 o'clock thousands who were going to witness the race had embarked and were steaming down the bay to the rendezvous off Bay Ridge, Long Island. There lay the two clippers ready for the grand marine tournament. A hundred sail yachts surrounded them, some at anchor and others under weigh, all eager to be on the move. Eleven o'clock was the time set for the start. [illegible] haze [illegible] over the city and the harbor. Not a breath of wind stirred the [illegible] while the sunshine [illegible] down as if to mock the efforts of the yachtsmen. Messrs. Robinson, Chase and Cahoon, the regatta committee on board the Luckenbach, after passing sailing orders to Gen. Paine and Lieut. Henn on board their respective yachts, instructed both to go under weigh and get in position for a good start when the breeze should come. At 11 a light breeze from a little east of south came in from seaward, clearing away the haze and rippling the waters of the bay. Quickly the two contestants and the immense fleet of steamers of all sizes, from a twenty foot launch to the three decker Grand Republic, clustered about the starting point.

THE START.

The preparatory whistle screeched out its warning at 10:45 and ten minutes later sounded for the start. Both yachts carrying the same sail, mainsail, club topsail, jib and fore staysail, had been manœuvered into good positions and down they came for an imaginary line between the Luckenbach and buoy 18, bearing east from her a quarter of a mile away, at a five-knot gait, the Mayflower apparently ahead and close to the judges' boat. She was not close enough however, for with a twist of her long tiller Capt. Bradford shot the handsome Galatea in to windward between the Luckenbach's bow and her rival and crossed the line a second ahead, amid the wildest applause.

Mrs. Henn in a yachting costume, with a scarlet Tam O'Shanter cap, stood in the companion hatchway, her husband standing on deck cool and confident. Capt. Stone steered the Mayflower with J. Ellsworth at his elbow and Gen. Paine near his wheel.

The official start was: Galatea 10:[illegible]:11; Mayflower 10:[illegible]:12. Both yachts stood across the channel on the starboard tack and began their battle for the America's cup. Tacking close under the Long Island shore at 11:30 they made the stretch over for Staten Island.

THE MAYFLOWER LEADS.

The Mayflower held the windward position, and with the last of the ebb tide under her lee bow she managed to keep it, and began outfooting the cutter at once. Hundreds watched this first part of the battle from the heights of Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton. At 11:0[illegible] the Galatea set her jib topsail and at 11:12 the Mayflower tacked close under Quarantine, the cutter following suit a minute later. The breeze was freshening every moment, and the prospects for a fine race encouraging. The large fleet of accompanying steamers made trouble for the yachts at times, and they had to be chased away by the judges' boat. When the Mayflower tacked to port at 11:[illegible] she had [illegible] Lafayette under her lee quarter, while the Galatea was yet under Fort Wadsworth. The [illegible] sloop crossed her bow fully a quarter of a mile to windward three minutes later, and kept steadily increasing her lead. At 11:5[illegible], when the Galatea tacked to port near buoy 1[illegible], the sloop was leading her by three quarters of a mile. The flood tide had just begun to make, and who piloted the Mayflower was working it for all he was worth. Capt. "Sam" Gibson, pilot of the Galatea, was also doing his best in this direction, but the cutter was not equal to the occasion. He finally split tacks with the sloop and going about at 12:20 held the port tack while the Mayflower made two and gained by the operation fully half a mile. Both then made short boards for buoy 8½, the first turning point. The Mayflower came around first at 1:0[illegible], the cutter at 1:0[illegible]. They were greeted with a perfect ovation of whistles from the attending steamers as they flew away for buoy 6. The Mayflower passed it at 1:1[illegible] and the Galatea at 1:25.

To buoy 8 the Mayflower had already beaten the cutter [illegible] minutes and 11 seconds. From here to the outer mark, Sandy Hook lightship, the contest was extremely pretty. The Mayflower slowly but surely outfooted the cutter, and tacking for the outer mark at 2:2[illegible]:30 came grandly along for it on the port tack. As she squared away around it a few minutes later and her big balloon topsail blossomed out of its stops the whistle serenade that was given her could be heard for miles. The official time of the turning was: Mayflower [illegible]; Galatea [illegible]:44:30. Both made

A SPLENDID PICTURE.

As they rounded the lightship [illegible]. To this point the Mayflower had now beaten the Galatea [illegible] minutes and 9 seconds, and she was fully two miles away when the latter squared away. Back to northward came the great flotilla of steamers with their freight of enthusiastic admirers. The Mayflower with her balloon jib topsail bellying out in the now strong breeze came bounding on the home stretch at [illegible] just as the Galatea was passing the point of Sandy Hook. The latter passed the buoys at [illegible] and both making over to port came grandly down to the finish on a flood tide. Finding that the staysail would draw, Lieut. Henn ordered it set to starboard at [illegible]. Capt. Stone finding the cutter overhauling him followed suit and set the Mayflower's spinnaker five minutes later. What a grand sight that finish was only an eye witness can tell. It was the grandest marine spectacle ever seen in New York bay. Surrounded by nearly [illegible] craft the Mayflower [illegible] through the narrow path of water and crossed the finish line amid the din of guns, the [illegible] of whistles and the waving of [illegible] of bunting and handkerchiefs.

THE GALATEA [illegible]

The Galatea received as hearty a welcome when [illegible] arrived, and when the judges told Lieut. Henn that he was beaten [illegible] minutes and [illegible] seconds, he [illegible] smiled and shouted back "I thought it was half an hour."

Three cheers [illegible] were given by the [illegible] for the gallant little Irishman and his charming wife. Both yachts then proceeded to their anchorage off Bay Ridge.

THE SECOND RACE.

The next contest will be sailed on Thursday over a course twenty miles to windward or leeward, starting from the Sandy Hook lightship.

ITEMS FROM LA GRANDE

LA GRANDE, Sept. 6.

The first ice of the season presented itself this morning.

Mr. A. J. Snodgrass has gone to Cheyenne on a business trip, and will return in about a week.

Drummers are numerous now that the fall trade is just opening. They are well patronized by the merchants here.

Our public school commences on the 1[illegible]th instant with Mr. McIntire as principal, a gentleman who comes well recommended for the position.

Mr. Wils Deal and H. W. Dwight are expected daily from Denver, Colorado, where they have been for weeks past disposing of several car loads of horses which they took from this and our surrounding valleys.

For the past few days the clerk of the weather has been giving us quite a benefit from extreme warm to quite cool and changeable, with a shower or two of rain and a lively dash of hail, thinking no doubt that variety is the spice of life and would please us.

Our town presents quite a business like appearance and trade is livening up considerably. Large quantities of baled hay are being shipped to various points outside of our county. Our enterprising lumber merchants, Messrs. Noyes & Gosar, find it impossible to supply the demand for lumber, though their mill is pushed to its utmost capacity. Work on the various business houses now in the course of construction is being carried forward with great energy, and many of our citizens are erecting fine residences that are both beautiful and ornamental, among whom are A. C. Huntington, [illegible] Elder, Daniel Chaplin and Mr. Nat Baum of the firm of Sommer, Baum & Co. Excavations have been commenced in the new town for the erection of a Presbyterian church.

BROWNSVILLE NOTES.

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 7.

There was a slight frost here last night, the first of the season.

Born, to the wife of Mr. P. Hu[illegible], last Sunday eve, a daughter.

Last Saturday we had quite a rain here, which put out nearly all the fires around us and purified the air, so we can all breathe much better.

The first copy of the Brownsville Intern[illegible] will be issued next Friday.

Mrs. Hartley and family departed for Boise City last week, where they will reside in the future.

Messrs. Berger & Moyer have just gone on a hunting trip up the Santiam towards Soda Springs.

James and Harmon Swink are off on a hunting and prospecting trip up toward the head of the Santiam.

M. [illegible] Garo[illegible] and family have just returned from a two weeks' trip to Soda Springs, all much benefited in health. Mr. P. Willis is also sojourning at the springs for his health.

Nearly everybody is through picking hops and the crop is of good quality, but light on account of so little rain. Messrs. Kirk & White have had [illegible] breakdowns with their engine that they got along slowly in drying, but will finish picking [illegible] another week, providing the engine don't give out [illegible] again.

EUROPEAN NOTES.

[illegible] is flooded with pamphlets against the Jews.

[illegible] have [illegible] of their own. The employés of [illegible] have [illegible] of these banks [illegible].

[illegible] the new [illegible] called the Emperor [illegible]. The vessel is [illegible] length.

Probably the largest literary prize ever offered is one of $[illegible] [illegible] given by the [illegible] for the best work on the life and reign of Alexander I.

Enormous violation of all sanitary principles, [illegible] poverty, the extreme rigor of winter and [illegible] by parents are said to be some of the principal reasons why out of 1000 children born in Russia scarcely [illegible] reach their twentieth birthday.

"What surprised you most when you landed in America?" was asked of a newly arrived English [illegible] the other day. "Well," was the reply, "you may think it strange [illegible], but what surprised me most was the barman in a [illegible] handing me the whisky bottle across the counter and telling me to help myself. Why, if such a thing were to be done in England you would have the streets blocked in the neighborhood with people anxious to help themselves."

Portland and the Southern Oregon Trade

Klamath County Star, September 4.

Now is the time for Portland to get the [illegible] and not wait until railroad connection is made before she makes an effort to get every dollar's worth of trade in Southern Oregon. As we have repeatedly said, we can see no reason why Oregon should not have that which rightfully belongs to her. Neither can we see anything to prevent Portland giving to the people of Southern Oregon as low prices as can San Francisco merchants. And should it become necessary, even make a sacrifice to obtain the trade of this portion of the state rather than to see it go to San Francisco. We do not believe San Francisco has any more wealth in accordance to its population than does Portland. The railroad facilities are as good for one as for the other. No discrimination is made by Eastern merchants by selling goods more favorably to San Francisco merchants than to those of Portland. Then we ask, in the name of common sense, what is keeping Portland back? Why does she not energetically reach out for that which belongs to her? Again we ask, will Portland stand idly by and see the immense wealth that is rapidly accumulating in Southern Oregon, particularly in Klamath and Lake counties, wend its way to San Francisco and build up that [illegible] with Oregon money?

The "People's" Convention.

Tacoma News.

The convention which met in this city Saturday for the purpose of nominating a people's territorial ticket could not reasonably claim to be a representative body, for less than one fourth of the counties in the territory were represented, and these by only thirty four individuals. * * * Those who [illegible] anticipated an endorsement of Voorhees by the convention, and such predictions were made with a good deal of confidence up to the time the nominations were made, were considerably astonished at the comparative unanimity with which the honors were bestowed upon ex-Gov. Wm. A. Newell. The convention might have found a much poorer candidate. The effect of this nomination can better be determined after the action of the convention on Wednesday, but it will doubtless be quite as satisfactory to Mr. Voorhees's friends as an indorsement. Unless the republican convention is extremely judicious in making its nomination, the effect of three tickets in the field will be the election of Mr. Voorhees. It is certain that some who were interested in making the nomination Saturday have led themselves to hope that their candidate would be indorsed by the republican convention, but no such result can be expected.

The Old Democratic Policy

Philadelphia Press.

The refusal of the assistant secretary of the treasury to forbid the admission of Mormon immigrants from foreign countries is in full accord with the policy which the democracy has always pursued with reference to the Mormon question. Mr. Fairchild excuses his refusal to act in the case by saying that the bonds given by the friends of the [illegible] immigrants, guaranteeing that the latter shall not become charges upon the public, entitle them to admission, but this [illegible] is disposed of by an agent of the Mormons in New York, who states that no such bonds have ever been given and that none will be. It would appear from this that the assistant secretary is guilty either of deceiving himself or of a rather disgraceful attempt to deceive the public. But be that as it may, it neither adds to nor detracts from the disgraceful consistency of the party which through its last administration made Brigham Young governor of Utah, and which through its present chief refuses to enforce regulations designed to prevent the further recruiting of Mormondom from foreign centers of ignorance and depravity.

It was a Chestnut

Chicago Herald.

The young man had taken her hand and was pleading impassionedly to her as they sat together on the sofa.

"Irene," said he, "though I am not the possessor of great wealth, I can offer you a devotion of a heart that is yours alone, a love that is as boundless as the ocean and as enduring as the everlasting hills. The [illegible] of my life shall be to minister to your happiness and to shield you from every storm's blast. Your smile shall be my heaven. Oft in my fancy's wanderings—"

At this moment the silvery [illegible] the young man paused, turned pale and said in an agonized voice:

"O Irene! At such a moment as this, when my life's happiness is trembling in the balance, you [illegible] be so cruel and so heartless as to [illegible] a chestnut gong on me."

English, Scotch and Irish

New York Graphic.

A writer in London Truth defines an Englishman as one who looks before he leaps, a Scotchman as one who looks and seldom leaps, and an Irishman as one who leaps and never looks. An [illegible] writer's definition of the three is: Strong, [illegible], beefheaded, wrongheaded. Another: [illegible] thistles, fond of [illegible], and whisky. Still another: Shoddy, shoddy and [illegible], shoddy and slip-shoddy. Again: [illegible]. Last of all a writer in rhyme defines them in [illegible]:

Stolid, steady, slow to fear,
Rule Britannia, beef and beer.
Canny, clanny, cautious, cute,
A deil to argue and fight to boot.
Frolicking, darling, all on fire,
Quick in friendship, prompt to ire.

Lincoln's Rules of Life

Ralston in New York Times.

An autograph letter that I would like to own was [illegible] me a few days ago. "A. Lincoln" was [illegible] signed at the end of it, and this wisdom [illegible] paragraphed in this wise:

Do not worry.
Eat three square meals a day.
Say your prayer.
Think of your wife.
Be courteous to your creditors.
Keep your digestion good.
[illegible] clear of biliousness.
Exercise.
Go slow and go easy.

Maybe there are other things that your especial case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these I reckon will give you a good lift.

In a Difficult Position.

Galveston News (Dem.)

The Albany Argus is at present in a difficult position. It has been the organ of democratic administrations in New York state for nearly a century, but at the present time it can't be an enthusiastic Hill organ and a faithful Cleveland organ. Secretary Manning, it will be remembered, is the principal owner of the Argus.

Kansas City Star.

Great is advertising, and the theatrical profession is on to the racket in every conceivable shape. Part of the scheme to put Bernhardt upon the American market is to debate the question whether or not she is crazy. Her manager is in the full possession of his faculties and she will always be sane enough to play when the box opens and responds freely.

Although Senator Jones of Florida did not appear in his place during the last session, the absurd rumor of his insanity is disproved by the fact that he never failed to draw on the secretary of the senate for his salary at the end of the month. He has abandoned Florida now, and will open a law office in Detroit.

Suicide of a Millionaire Banker of Chicago.

A KNIGHTS OF LABOR ORGAN

Vermont's Election—Praise for Geronimo's Captors—The Noted Apache Chief's Future—Morrison Renominated.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Henry J. Christoph, one of the wealthiest private bankers in the West, committed suicide last night. He had been drinking heavily for weeks and has been on the verge of delirium tremens for several days. Yesterday his wife went to visit her brother, Conrad Seipp, the millionaire brewer. Christoph called for her and was in an ugly mood. He raved like a madman, uttering incoherent sentences at the top of his voice. Seipp tried to quiet him, but he turned on him with the fury of a maniac and drove him from the room. His wife tried to calm his mad [illegible] and partially succeeded, when he suddenly drew a twenty-two calibre revolver from his pocket. Mrs. Christoph's shrieks brought the [illegible] and servants trooping to the drawing room, [illegible] before anyone could realize what [illegible] he had placed the revolver just back of [illegible] ear and fired. He fell dead to the floor, while Mrs. Christoph dropped in a swoon. It was at first supposed that the ball [illegible] killed them both. [illegible] ever since the tragedy [illegible] the shock. Seipp's mansion is among the palaces of the city, and is now guarded by police to keep back the crowds of curious people. No one is admitted save the most intimate friends.

Henry Jacob Christoph came here from Worms, in the duchy of Hesse Darmstadt, in September 18[illegible], and shortly after started a private bank, which is now one of the most solid concerns in the city. He was considered to be worth half a million.

VERMONT'S ELECTION.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Sept. [illegible].—Although there are no questions of [illegible] policy of a very important nature to be decided by to-day's election, it is evident that both republican and democratic parties will poll a vote largely in excess of that usually cast. The relative strength of the two principal parties in the state [illegible] remain unchanged. Main issue for the republicans involves the election of a U. S. senator to succeed Edmunds. The democratic managers are making strenuous efforts to poll a large party vote. There are three tickets in the field, viz: republican, democratic and prohibition. The offices to be filled are governor, members of congress, treasurer, auditor and secretary of state.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. [illegible].—Thirty-one towns give Gov. Ormsby, republican, [illegible] votes, and Shurtleff, democrat, [illegible]; majority for Ormsby [illegible]. Out of thirty-one towns twenty-two are for Edmunds, from six there are no returns, one is against Edmunds and two have no choice. The returns are coming in very slow.

The others severely injured are Henry Schumaker, leg broken; [illegible], scalp wound; G. Alexander, internal injuries.

CHANGES IN THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

[illegible], Sept. 7.—It is understood that at the next convention of the Knights of Labor, to be held at Richmond next month, changes in the present laws will be made amounting to a complete reorganization of the order. State assemblies under a new plan will have control of the territory under their jurisdiction, but the acts of their officers will be subject to reversal by the general master workman. Thus Mr. Powderly will retain supreme control while gaining relief from the routine work that now falls upon his shoulders. The plan has been thoroughly canvassed since the adjournment of the Cleveland convention, and there is little doubt but that it will be adopted.

PROPOSED LABOR JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Secretary Turner of the Knights of Labor has issued a secret circular asking opinions concerning the establishment of a journal which shall be an exponent of the principles of the order, thoroughly educational in its relations to labor, non-partisan and non-political. GERONIMO'S FUTURE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. [illegible].—[illegible] It [illegible] in some quarters that the Indians [illegible] transferred to the custody of the interior department [illegible] and that Geronimo and his [illegible] will ultimately be surrendered to the civil authorities of Arizona and put upon trial for murder, with a result that it would require little [illegible]. An officer of high rank, however, inclines to the belief that the president will never consent to the surrender of Geronimo to the civil authorities, but will order his trial by court martial if it should be regarded as proper to try him at all. The same officer said that the successful ending of the campaign would be of inestimable value to the territory of Arizona. The hostiles had so ravaged and worried an area of the country [illegible] uninhabitable.

PRAISE FOR GERONIMO'S CAPTORS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. [illegible].—General satisfaction is expressed at the war department upon the receipt of the news that Geronimo had surrendered. Credit [illegible] bestowed upon Gen. Miles for his [illegible] conduct of the campaign. General Crook's work is not forgotten. It is said the results of this campaign were in great measure due to Miles. Capt. Lawton had also distinguished himself as a gallant officer, and his pursuit of the hostiles under adverse conditions and hardships was thoroughly commendable. The acting secretary of war [illegible] prepared to say what disposition would be made of the captives, but certainly nothing would be done in the matter until the president's wishes were given.

MEXICO.

[illegible] REPORTED.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7.—The Globe-Democrat's Eagle Pass, Texas, special says: The long threatened revolution in Coahuila, Mexico, has at last developed in a definite shape. News has been received from Piedras Negras that a band of revolutionists yesterday seized the town of [illegible], Mexico, and took complete possession of it. During the circus in Piedras Negras all able bodied males were arrested and pressed into the revolutionary military service and placed in quarters for safe keeping during the night. This morning, 150 strong, they were mounted on confiscated horses and, accompanied by 100 regular soldiers, were taken to [illegible] to combat the revolutionists, who are supposed to be under the leadership of El Coyote, Mexico's most celebrated bandit and revolutionary leader. When the opposing forces come together hard fighting may be expected. The revolution just inaugurated will be hard to suppress, for the rebels are ably commanded and well supplied with money and provisions. There is a great amount of dissatisfaction in that state with the government, and this fact alone has drawn many to the revolutionists' standard. People who are best acquainted with the Mexican character predict a great political upheaval within six months.

Cuellar is in receipt of telegrams informing him that [illegible] Martinez, brother of the famous El Coyote, crossed the Rio Grande near [illegible], leading thirty three Texas Mexicans to join the revolutionists. Above all other earthly ills
I hate the big, old fashioned pills
By slow degrees they downward wend,
And often pause or upward tend,
With such discomfort are they fraught,
Their good effects amount to naught.
Now Dr. Pierce prepares a pill
That just exactly fills the bill—
A Pellet rather, that is all—
A Pleasant Purgative, and small.
Just try them as you feel their need,
You'll find that I speak truth, indeed.

A DECIDED DEFEAT FOR ENGLAND.

The Three Emperors Combine to Restore Russia's Supremacy in Bulgaria—Various Opinions as to the Result.

LONDON, Sept. [illegible].—This [illegible] is the most candid and sensible view of the situation in Bulgaria yet taken by a [illegible] paper. The correct [illegible] that Russia, Germany's business and Austria's [illegible] if those powers are [illegible]. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The World's [illegible] says editorially: [illegible] Prince Alexander's [illegible] was decided by the three military powers [illegible] which she has delivered from Turkish rule, and Germany and Austria [illegible] in this demand in order to prevent [illegible] of the principality by the northern power and the outbreak of a European war. Prince Alexander having been [illegible] by the czar's reply followed Prince [illegible] and [illegible] announced his intention to give up his throne. He had not an ally [illegible] he was willing to take up arms in defense of his territory. The military empires had united their diplomacy [illegible] against him and insisted that their will was law for the question.

His features are terribly drawn and pinched. He will take up his residence after leaving Bulgaria at Jugenheim with his father.

EXTRAORDINARY CONFUSION.

LONDON, Sept. [illegible].—The extraordinary confusion of affairs in the East may be judged from the fact that the Ottoman government up to the hour of cabling has received no information whatever as to the abdication of Alexander. DISLIKE THE ABDICATION.

SOFIA, Sept. [illegible].—Another meeting of army officers was held here to-night, when they again favored the retention of Prince Alexander. The commandant of Widdin garrison telegraphs that he is ready to march on Sofia to suppress any cabinet that acquiesces in the prince's abdication. Russia's reply is received with great distrust.

ALEXANDER'S DECISION FINAL.

SOFIA, Sept. [illegible].—Prince Alexander twice to-day met officers of his army who came to persuade him to remain on the Bulgarian throne. On each occasion he besought them to refrain from opposing his departure. The officers expressed deep sorrow, but promised to follow his wishes. Prince Alexander will leave Sofia September 1[illegible]th.

RESISTANCE TO RUSSIA.

RUSTCHUK, Sept. [illegible].—The czar's reply to Alexander's letter of August 20 was not made public here until yesterday. It raised a storm of popular consternation and indignation. Many officers of the army advocate resistance if Russia forcibly deposes Alexander against the will of the people.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 8, 1886.

THE "PEOPLE'S" CONVENTION.

The people's convention at Tacoma last week adopted resolutions in favor of equal wages. That is all right, provided equal wages implies equal work. It demanded disbursement of the money in the treasury by paying the public debt, which, if it means the passage of the Morrison resolution, which could not have been satisfied without trenching on the gold reserve or paying our bonds in silver, is all wrong. It stands by woman suffrage, to which we have no special objection when the women who stand for all that makes life worth living, all that is permanent, because good and true, ask for it with the determination to exercise it. It demands remuneration of the soldiers for the difference between the value of greenbacks and gold, which is absurd, for the soldier was paid strictly according to the contract. Greenbacks were made legal tender as one of the emergent necessities of the war. It was a disagreeable necessity, just as the draft was a disagreeable necessity; just as heavy internal taxation was a necessity; just as a hundred other measures were forced upon us in our fight for national life. The soldier, if he was a debtor, could pay his good debts in greenbacks; if he was a creditor he had to accept greenbacks from his good debtors. He fared alike with the rest of his countrymen so far as greenbacks were concerned; he endured their hardship just as he endured a hundred other things that were included among the gloomy but necessary obligations of the war, but the soldier and the bondholder were both paid exactly according to contract. No doubt the average soldier was of more heroic stuff than some bondholders, but the government was obliged to promise gold to market its bonds rapidly, while it was not obliged to promise gold to secure its soldiers. The government acted like a sound business man and secured its soldiers, as it did its money, as cheaply as it could in satisfaction of its crowding necessities. The government has entirely satisfied its business contract with the soldier; it proposes to discharge its contract with the bondholder, if the dishonest, bawling demagogues of both parties will permit it to do so. The government has been recklessly extravagant in its indiscriminate generosity in the matter of pensions since the war and this resurrection of the old cry to "pay the soldier in the same money we do the bondholder" is worthy of a convocation of cranks and demagogues. We do not pay men in this world in proportion to their personal heroism and sacrifice; if we did we never could pay our soldiers enough. If we did we should always be in debt to Lincoln, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Stanton, for no money could pay them fully for their great services, but we paid them as a matter of business according to contract, and the money that was accepted by Lincoln, Stanton and Sherman in full commercial satisfaction of their services was good enough for the rest of us high and low, and so the Tacoma convention is an organized and conglomerate ass on this subject.

WHAT IRELAND WANTS.

To-night the friends of Irish freedom hold a meeting in aid of subscriptions to the parliamentary fund, a fund used to pay the political expenses of the home rule campaign in Ireland. It is a good time perhaps to answer the question, "What does Ireland want?" Tory Englishmen undertake to tell us that the struggle of Ireland to achieve home rule and a measure of independence is identical with the effort of the Southern states to disrupt our republic, and set up the so-called Confederate government, but there is no analogy in the two cases, for the Southern States voluntarily entered the Union, and so far from being oppressed in any way, they had more than a fair share of influence and representation in the national councils, and protection for their domestic institutions under a most liberal interpretation of the doctrine of state rights.

But the union of Ireland and Great Britain is a terrible story of blood and fraud. The legislative union of Ireland was brought about in 1800. Grattan had wrung the concession of home rule through an Irish parliament from England during the last years of our revolutionary war, and it was the darling purpose of the great tory statesman, William Pitt, to break up this home rule. Pitt is charged by able Irish historians with having deliberately provoked the rebellion of 1798, in order that the English government might have an excuse for crushing the people and filling the island with soldiers as a preliminary to taking away home rule. One means of exciting revolt was to hold out the promise of Catholic emancipation and then exasperate the Catholics into an outbreak by withholding it. In order to prevent Catholics and Protestants from combining to uphold home rule, Pitt promoted sectarian dissensions, and Lord Randolph Churchill rousing the Orangemen of Ulster to religious fury, ending in riot, is only an apt pupil of Pitt's policy. Salisbury inflamed resistance to home rule in England in the late elections by persuading every Protestant peasant that the Irish Catholics under home rule would persecute the Protestants of Ulster. The policy of Salisbury to kill home rule in 1886 is only Pitt's trick of 1798. The Duke of Portland wrote Lord Castlereagh that "Catholic emancipation must not be granted but through the medium of a union and by means of a united parliament." Pitt's policy fomented insurrection, and finally it exploded in the horrors of 1798. Professor Thorold Rogers says:

> Pitt permitted in Ireland a reign of terror hardly less atrocious than, though better concerted, than the massacres of September and the fusilade at Lyons. Lord Cornwallis, who succeeded Lord Fitzwilliam as viceroy, wrote that the country had been driven into rebellion by violence and cruelty, and the [illegible] described as consisting in [illegible] burning, [illegible] hanging, [illegible] and universal rape and murder.

The soldiers were guilty of sanguinary excesses which Lord Cornwallis denounced to the ministry in vain. No less than 137,000 troops were sent into Ireland, or recruited them from the ranks of the Irish natives. The signatures of petitions for the union did not exceed 3,000, while the signatures against it were 707,000. The [illegible] Pitt was to directly purchase the Dublin parliament. This parliament was not allowed, under the law, a single Catholic representative, although four-fifths of the people were Catholics. A majority of its members in both houses were placemen, English officers, absentee landlords, tenants of pocket boroughs, men who under a fair representative system could not possibly have been elected to an Irish legislature. The Irish historian, Daunt, says:

> There were 300 members in the Dublin house of commons; 162 voted for the union, and 116 of these were in the pay of the English government as pensioners or placeholders. Peerages, judgeships, bishoprics, and commands in the army and navy were lavishly distributed in consideration of union votes. The sum of £1,275,000 was expended in the purchase of nomination boroughs to be used in packing the commons with members hired only to vote their own extinction; and the ministry crowned its profligacy by the payment of direct bribes in money to the amount of £1,500,000. Every man who had a price got it.

Of course to compare such a union as this, forced by the blood of 1798 and the parliamentary fraud of 1800, to the American Union against which the South revolted is absolutely absurd. The Irish people fairly say that they never acquiesced in this shameful transaction; they are not to-day trying to throw off a rule they once voluntarily accepted as legitimate, but have come to find oppressive and unjust, which was the plea of the revolted South, but they are opposing to-day, as they always have opposed, this original fraudulent invasion of their right of self-government planned by Pitt and perpetrated by Castlereagh in 1800. Pitt covered the island with a swarm of soldiers; he terrorized the people with the bloody outrages of his troops, but all in vain he had finally in face of 700,000 signatures to bribe the Dublin parliament to upset home rule and consent to the union the people had refused. Ever since the commission of this original wrong Ireland has never ceased its resistance to the perpetuation of this legislative union of 1800 that was established as completely by blood and fraud as any shotgun canvass that, supplemented by a burlesque of the ballot, ever disfigured the South.

This continuous resistance to the legislative union of 1800 has not been confined to any creed in Ireland. The Irish Protestants have been the most determined opponents of this union and the earliest advocates of its repeal. The first formal demand for repeal was made in 1810 by the Orange corporation of Dublin. Large numbers of Protestants stood by O'Connell in his movement for repeal; the Protestant gentry often presided at his meetings. Grattan, the first home rule agitator, was a Protestant; so in 1798 was Wolfe Tone; so were William Smith O'Brien and John Mitchell, the Irish rebels of 1848, and so in our own day were the home rulers Butt and Parnell. What Ireland wants to-day is just what she has wanted for eighty-five years; she wants home rule, of which she was robbed in 1800 by a conspiracy of blood and fraud, which established a legislative union by base bribes, which Pitt had not been able to force the people to vote for by bayonets.

The dispatch of the English trooper, Sir Redvers Buller, who was in the Zulu war what Tarleton was under Cornwallis, in our revolutionary conflict, is significant of a resumption of the blood and iron policy of Pitt and Castlereagh. A recent dispatch says:

> This is the first step in the insidious design on the part of the government to bring about a condition of affairs in Kerry and counties adjacent which will serve as an excuse for proclaiming martial law in Ireland. Gen. Buller goes to Kerry to get his hand in, and by November it is calculated that he will have the southwest of the island in such a state that the government will be able to apply for a coercion act. This will enable them to carry out Salisbury's Hottentot policy with a vengeance.

Rev. Stopford Brooke, an eminent English clergyman, who has succeeded to the place in American hearts that was held by the lamented Rev. F. W. Robertson, in his pamphlet on the "Moral Aspects of Home Rule," says:

> We are asked to define this home rule sentiment—as if all Englishmen did not know what it is! It is the sentiment which every Englishman feels at home or abroad with regard to his native country—an emotion which is certain to take form in action; which is so steady that it outlasts all other emotions which belong to earth, so passionate that it is felt in the loneliest desert and in the bitterest suffering; so unconquerable that death is preferable to any dishonor done to it—a sentiment built up in him out of the past of his country into an inward temple of the soul, wherein all the glorious historic deeds and sufferings of England are painted, around whose walls stand the statues of all who have made her name glorious in art and literature, in war and peace, in law and knowledge, in righteousness and love of God and man. Wheresoever he goes he bears within him this sacred temple, and in foreign lands he is always at home therein. There is but one thing which would defile this shrine and cast its living stones to the ground. It would be if this country should be no longer free to express her own will, unforbidden by any alien power; no longer free to rule herself, to manage and develop her own life; to be an individual people.

That is what Irishmen feel about Ireland.

CHINESE LABOR A NECESSITY.

When the senseless, cruel and criminal crusade against the Chinese was being waged last winter at Puget sound, this journal pointed out that in the state of industry in the territory the Chinese were a positive necessity; that without them the business of the country would languish. It required little wisdom to see that the "agitation" was carried on by a class of men who could not be depended on to fill the places and do the work of the Chinamen driven out. The year is not through, but the prediction has been verified in the most positive way. The coal mines, or the more important of them, stopped months ago, and throughout the summer enterprise in many directions has been embarrassed and hindered by the lack of labor. It is now found impossible to save the hop crop without employing Chinese pickers, and they have been invited to return to Puyallup whence they were driven out by murderous violence. In the Seattle Times of the 4th inst. we find the following local item:

> Being unable to obtain Indian or white hop pickers Tom Sharkey, at O'Brien's crossing, has employed sixty-five Chinese who went to his yard yesterday. While with Mr. Sharkey other growers would rather employ Indians it is imperative that they save their crops, and as a last resort they must fall back upon the Chinese. It is very probable that a lot of the loafers in Seattle will howl about the action of these hop growers. These loafers would rather see the hops rot upon the vines than grant the right of self-protection to industrious growers. There is, however, no likelihood of the expenditure of anything more dangerous than wind.

The hops will not rot on the vines because the outrage of eviction was stopped before it became general, but it would serve the hop growers of Puyallup, who permitted, if they did not take part in the "agitation," only as they deserve if they lost their whole crop. The experience of the season, however, will be a good lesson to the hop men and to the people of the sound, for it has demonstrated the unreliability of the vicious and idle element which needs to be suppressed before the country can prosper. This ought to have been known before.

Transcontinental roads terminating at San Francisco have reduced rates to meet the competition of the Canadian Pacific. The Northern Pacific and Short Line will have to do likewise or lose business. It looks as if we were to have permanently lower rates.

Victoria Morisini's love for Schilling was supposed to be of the stable order, but it turns out otherwise.

The Doctor's Endorsement.

Dr. W. D. Wright, Cincinnati, O., sends the subjoined professional endorsement: "I have prescribed DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS in a great number of cases, and always with success. One case in particular was given up by several physicians who had been called in for consultation with myself. The patient had all the symptoms of confirmed consumption—cold night sweats, hectic fever, harassing cough, etc. He commenced immediately to get better, and was soon restored to his usual health. I also found DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS the most valuable expectorant for breaking up distressing coughs and colds."

"PORTLAND HEIGHTS."

The particular attention of seekers for suburban property is directed to "Portland Heights." This is the most magnificent property ever offered to the public, and purchasers are not subjected to various hardships, privations and annoyances in order to reach their property, such as crossing the river in stormy weather, tedious waits at ferry slips, traveling a long road 2 to 4 miles, dusty in summer and muddy in winter. This property is within the city limits, easily accessible by two newly improved, finely macadamized roads up Montgomery street and up Seventh street; is five blocks from street cars on Montgomery street, and in full view of the city. Finest view on earth. Fine water in abundance. Fine natural shade trees. Good soil. Is 10 to 700 feet above low water. Prevailing winds are from northwest in summer, and in a direct ocean breeze, and not from Willamette and Columbia river sloughs. No high winds here. Is as free of malaria as the summit of Mt. Hood. Absolutely no disadvantages. No cash payment required. Monthly installments no greater than house rent in the city. EUGENE D. WHITE, Agent, Rooms B, C and D, second floor, N. W. cor. First and Alder sts., Portland, Oregon.

THE STAGE.

THE NEW MARKET.—Another large house greeted Joseph J. Grismer, Phœbe Davies and their excellent company last evening. "A Hoop of Gold" has made a most decided hit judging by the crowded houses and the ringing applause that greets every situation and climax. Mr. Grismer as "Scotty" has a part in which he seems to revel, while Miss Davies shows her powers of acting to be greater than ever. "A Hoop of Gold" will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

PROFESSIONAL JURORS.—The announcement that outside of the grand jury about one third of the jurymen drawn for this term of the circuit court had asked to be excused caused the hallways and steps of the court house to be thronged with members of the old gang of professional jurymen so familiar to all who frequent the courts. They were button holing the members of the bar and importuning to be placed on the jury. And yet we growl at the faults of the jury system and wonder at the increase of crime! Due diligence and care are exercised in preparing the jury list but when a venire is drawn there is always a number who succeed in getting excused. Then the professional juryman who has not read any paper nor formed any opinion on any subject comes to the front and gets himself put where he can do the most good or harm as the case may be and such verdicts are rendered as make people hold up their hands in holy horror and exclaim "Well there is no telling what a jury will do." People who are drawn on a jury should serve if possible in order that the law may be administered justly and not left just to be left in the hands of one man who is ready to hang a jury rather than the prisoner.

ANOTHER SUIT AGAINST THE CITY.—Robert Bragg yesterday commenced suit in the U. S. circuit court against the city of Portland to recover $5,000 damages for infringement of his patents by the use of unbitching devices and improvements used in the engine houses of the fire department. He also demands that these devices be destroyed or turned over to him and that the city be restrained from buying or selling or using or having anything of the kind in future unless of course they are purchased from him. It will be remembered that Mr. Bragg secured a verdict against the city for $3,000 or thereabouts some time since for a similar infringement of his patents. After the devices there in use were taken out others were introduced which Mr. Cotton, superintendent of the fire alarm, invented himself and which it was claimed were no infringement on Bragg's patents. Mr. Bragg appears to have taken a different view of the matter and wants money damages. Whether he will succeed in his demands remains to be seen, but if he does it will be in order for someone to invent some totally new device for the use of our firemen, and this is the third time in a charge the city may not have to pay damages again.

A HINT TO FISHERMEN.—Fishermen on the Columbia and our legislators might take a hint from the following, which is from the British Columbia ... In his official report to the minister of marine and fisheries last year Capt. Pittendrigh, then inspector of fisheries for this province, made the following observations: "I shall this year with your approval increase the distance between nets when drifting over the sandheads outside the river from 250 to 400 yards. This action is requisite through nearly all the fishermen assembling at this point and forming almost a complete barrier of nets, thereby drawing the salmon into minor channels." This extract shows that Capt. Pittendrigh believed the practice pursued by the fishermen on the sandheads to be prejudicial to the interests of the fishing industry. We hope the matter will receive prompt and careful attention from the proper authorities.

FINE AS USUAL.—The September number of the West Shore just out is illustrated in a style which shows that Mr. Samuels spares no pains or expense to secure first-class artists. There is a ... scene on Ross island and a view of the harbor in that vicinity and a full page picture of Mt. Hood showing the Pilot glacier. One page is devoted to a splendid view of Tillamook light, the breakers thundering against the rock and throwing their spray high in the air—very realistic. The gem of the number is a double page view of Oneonta gorge, one of the most romantic and awe-inspiring scenes on the Columbia. There is an Alaskan view, a bridge across Indian river and a view of the Snoqualmie pass, W. T., and a beautiful bit of Southern Oregon scenery embracing the Lake of the Woods and Mt. Pitt. Good judgment is used in selecting the subjects for the illustrations and they are finished in the highest style of the art.

FELL THROUGH A BRIDGE.—A man named Ballard, who arrived at Umatilla on the Baker City branch train Saturday night, was very seriously injured by falling through the bridge across the Umatilla river. The bridge is being replaced with one of iron and stone and the men employed on the work had cut away some of the ties. Ballard arrived there at 10 P. M. and started to walk down the main track. In crossing the bridge he fell through the hole made by removing the ties and landed on the mud and rocks about 40 feet below. The pump engineer, Ebinger, heard his moanings about midnight and calling help took him to the pump house. He was badly hurt about the back and received several bad cuts on the head, and it is feared his spine was injured as he was perfectly helpless. He was sent to Pendleton the next day for treatment.

LIGHTING THE CITY.—The subject of lighting the city is being discussed very generally. Every one would like something better than the coal oil now in use, but before the council make any new contract it is much to be desired that they should know what they are contracting for. The present contract is up in March next and it would be a good plan for the different electric light men, the gas company, coal oil men, and perhaps candle founders to make a display of their different styles of illumination in order that the councilmen may be able to judge which is the best. If Mr. Morey would put in a few of his incandescent lamps on some street the committee to whom his communication was referred would be able to make a report in the matter which might at least throw as much light on it as an oil lamp would.

MORE DEPTH AT A WHARF.—The shoaling of the water in front of the O. R. & N. Co.'s dock at Astoria has rendered sluicing necessary, so the Umatilla after finishing her work at St. Helens bar was taken down there. The Astorian of yesterday says: "The Umatilla was at the O. R. & N. dock yesterday continuing the dredging under the supervision of Mayor Gates. The three hawsers by which the steamer is held in position by the dock are stretched taut like fiddlestrings and with a rumble and a roar the water comes leaping and boiling up from the steamer's propeller and goes eddying and whirling away out into the channel to be swept away by the current and deposited somewhere else."

WRONG PLACE FOR A LICENSE.—There are a good many licenses for one thing and another issued from the auditor's office every quarter, so when yesterday a gentleman accompanied by a lady called there and asked for a license Deputy Curry was not at all surprised. He inquired what business the man proposed to engage in, and was told that it was matrimony. The couple wished a marriage license. Curry started in to fill out a liquor license, but thought better of it and concluded not to trifle with a man in such a serious matter. So the would be wedded couple were directed to the county clerk's office and are probably ere this one for life or till they take a notion they want a divorce.

A BID FOR THE MISSOURI COLONY.—Frank Owen, editor of the Cowlitz River Pilot, Toledo, W. T., writes to THE OREGONIAN: "Send your Missouri colony down here. We can locate it in more than one place, any of which ought to suit the most fastidious. The Big Bottom country in the eastern end of Lewis county has room and vacant land of fine quality for several hundred families. There are also other locations here where homesteads could be taken or located and bought cheap from old settlers who feel civilization encroaching on them. Send on your immigrants. For information let them come to the Pilot office."

INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.—Yesterday afternoon Freddie Liebe, the 11 year old son of Theo. H. Liebe, took his father's horse and ... at a blacksmith's shop and started to drive down to the store on Pine street. Coming down D street the horse commenced going very fast and got beyond the boy's control, and in turning up Sixth street ran against a tree and threw the boy out, knocking him senseless. It was at first supposed that he was fatally injured, but upon an examination being made by a physician it was found that no bones were broken, and it is thought that no lasting serious will result from the mishap.

THE WINNER THE LOSER.—The race between the Vesta ... and Fleetwing yesterday was ... the former. The boats started at ... P. M. The Austin secured the lead while beating down ... and the Fleetwing ... minutes. The Austin covered the course in ... hours ... minutes 10 seconds and the Fleetwing in ... hours ... minutes ... seconds. Jesse ... sailed the Austin and Al. Young the Fleetwing. The boats will sail another race to-day for $50 and this will settle which is the faster boat.

EXPENSIVE HUNTING.—In Justice Tuttle's court yesterday Henry Steer was tried by a jury on a charge of trespassing on lawyer Whalley's shooting grounds. The jury found Steer guilty and he was fined $10 and costs, amounting in all to $31. As Steer burst his gun while out hunting, and also hired a lawyer to conduct his case in court, his Sunday's sport proved to be rather expensive. Steer would have saved money by pleading guilty, but as a legal luminary remarked: "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad." Steer is probably by this time kicking himself.

CHANGES IN CISTERNS.—Workmen were engaged yesterday in repairing the ring of the cistern at the intersection of First and Morrison streets, which had sunk somewhat, thereby endangering travel over it. The cistern at Morrison and Seventh streets is also to be repaired. When the Villard hotel was started the grade of Morrison street at this point was lowered some two feet. The cistern was constructed to conform with the old grade and is now to be changed to conform with the new grade of the street.

THE VANCOUVER FAIR.—Thomas C. Bell, secretary of the Clarke County (W. T.) Agricultural and Mechanical society, writes to THE OREGONIAN that the next fair will be held not this week as announced, but commencing Tuesday, September ..., and continue four days, and be extended to Saturday if sufficient attractions can be offered. The track is in superb condition and every effort is being made by the managers to make this the most attractive and successful fair ever held by the society.

TO THE PUPILS OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—Second hand school books can be bought at Wiley B. Allen's, 211 First street, at half the regular price. These books are perfect and good as new. If preferred new books furnished at greatly reduced prices. All the high school books in stock. Leather book strap to every $1 purchaser free with beautiful card covers, rulers, etc., at Wiley B. Allen's new book store, 211 First, between Taylor and Salmon.

PREPARING FOR THE MATCH.—The Chamberlain prize contest comes off next Tuesday, the 14th. The "boys" are practicing daily and some very fine scores have thus far been made. Two have made 96 out of a possible 100, and one has made a record of 97. Six hundred dollars are to be distributed in prizes, and the interest is becoming more apparent as the time shortens. On the same day at Cleveland, Ohio, $4300 will be distributed in prizes.

WONDERFUL GROWTH OF PLUMS.—Mr. C. P. Woodworth, whose plums a few weeks ago carried away the prize record for size, now makes a bid for the record in quantity to the square inch. He has an egg plum tree in his yard on West Main street that is literally weighed down with the fruit. Many branches have been broken and all are braced. On one limb in a distance of nineteen inches by fourteen inches in breadth sixty plums can be counted. They cluster all around the branches so thickly as to touch each other and thus have prevented perfect growth and development.

READY FOR WHEAT.—The Allen ... wharf, 1100 feet fronting on the Willamette at the north end of Albina, was completed yesterday. The contractors have had a force of fifty men on this, the largest private wharf on the river. The cost of the dock will probably reach over $15,000. Within a week the upper floor will be nearly ... with wheat. The Montgomery dock on the north ... a grand frontage of docks extending from the ferry slip 1600 feet along the river.

WORK TO BE COMMENCED.—Contractor ... and his associates will begin work ... on the ... of I street, east ... The work ... laying the foundation.

THE REDUCTION WORKS

Ground Cleared Preparatory to Erection of the Buildings—Brief Description of the Enterprise.

Yesterday Chris. Evans, the contractor, finished the work of clearing and leveling part of block 91 in Stephens addition, East Portland, preparatory to the erection of the buildings of the Portland reduction works. The location is between the track of the Oregon & California railroad and the north bank of Stephens slough, nearly half a mile southeast of the new lime works. Eighth and Ninth streets if extended across the railroad track would run through the grounds. The slough makes a natural dumping ground which is practically unlimited.

A switch will be put in and along this switch a covered ore shed 25 feet long and 30 feet wide will be built. The floor will be as high above the ground as the floor of a freight car. Adjoining the ore shed and one foot lower there will be a sampling floor twenty feet square. In these structures the ore will be received, weighed and sampled. There will be a test mill 4x50, which will contain a rock crusher, rolls and a Kendall mill, which does the work of a stamp mill but more expeditiously. The capacity of the test mill will be twenty sample lots of say from 500 to 600 pounds. ... and probability more rolls, concentrator and pans will be added soon after the works start up. The smelter will be what is known as the Jacoby smelter of late pattern with a capacity of forty tons per day. There will also be a roaster or desulphurizing furnace 100 feet. Besides these there will be a thoroughly equipped assay office.

From present indications the buildings will be up in three weeks and the works will be ready for the reduction of ore by the last week in October. The estimated cost of the plant is $11,000 to $12,000. About twenty five men will be employed. Some of the heaviest capitalists in Portland have taken stock in the enterprise. Already the works have been promised enough ore from the Cœur d'Alene district alone to keep them running for one year. With Baker and Union counties and Southern Oregon to hear from, to say nothing of the Colville district, it is not hard to believe that the company will find it necessary to double the capacity of the works before spring.

THE WATER COMMISSION

A Warning from the Bull Run Water and Power Company

A meeting of the water committee was held yesterday afternoon, Chairman Failing presiding and nine members present. A report was made that A. Roberts and J. Steel had qualified as bondsmen for the Oregon Paving and Contract company, who have been awarded the contract for the road, and George Ham and E. Canuto for P. O'Neil, who has the contract for the conduit.

The following claims were referred to the auditing committee: Daily News, $8 00; OREGONIAN, $8 40; Williams, Ach & Wood, $10 50; J. W. Smith, $400; pay roll of employes $3... 5; G. E. Oliver, $120.

The chairman read the following letter, which was ordered filed:

PORTLAND, Sept. 4, 1886.

To Mr. Failing, Chairman of the Portland Water Committee—SIR: The directors of the Bull Run Water and Power company, duly incorporated, being informed that your committee is proposing to attempt to interfere with and divert the water of the north fork of the Sandy or Bull Run river with the alleged purpose and intention of conveying the same to the city of Portland for public uses, I have been directed by resolution of said board of directors that you be notified by this communication that the Bull Run Water and Power company was incorporated for the purpose among other things of conducting the waters of said stream to said city of Portland for public uses and is the owner of large quantities of the lands through and along which said stream of water flows, with the riparian rights to such ownership belonging and pertaining; but any attempt on the part of your committee or any persons purporting to be authorized by said committee to interfere with or divert any of the water of said stream from their natural channel for any purpose whatever will be at your risk and liability for any damage which may thereby ensue or accrue to said Bull Run Water and Power company, and that such attempt will be resisted at law by said company as it may determine.

THE BULL RUN WATER AND POWER CO.

Another suit for divorce has been brought in the state circuit court by Jacob Cline vs. Wally Cline. Plaintiff goes on to say that they were married in Portland December 5, 18.., and on June 3, 1881, defendant deserted him and has remained absent ever since. That she falsely accused him of adultery during the trial of a previous case in the state circuit court, has heaped personal indignities upon him, made his life burdensome, etc. Jacob sued Wally for a divorce and it was refused. Wally sued Jacob for a divorce and it was granted and the supreme court set it aside.

JUSTICES' COURTS.

Joseph Knott yesterday commenced an action in replevin in Justice Tuttle's court against Frank A. Newton to recover a shotgun of the value of $.5. The complaint sets forth that during the year 1885 Knott loaned the gun to Harry McCauley, and that subsequently the gun came into the possession of Newton by what circumstance the plaintiff does not know. On possession being demanded from Newton he refused to deliver the gun over to Knott, who consequently brought suit as aforesaid.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

ANOTHER VIEW

SALEM Sept 6.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your Sunday issue you give a dismal view of business in Atlanta since prohibition went into effect I send you another view also vouched for by influential citizens And may I remark that if (as liquor men so constantly affirm) "prohibition does not prohibit and there is more liquor sold under prohibition than under license" why is not Atlanta more prosperous under the new regime If prohibition is a flat failure "impossible of enforcement" what difference can it possibly make to the prosperity of Atlanta? ENQUIRER

DISASTROUS EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION IN ATLANTA."

Prohibition took effect in the city of Atlanta July 1 Just listen to the visible effects it has had on the business interests of the city The present mayor of the city writes us "All kinds of business are I think better than they were a year ago except the whisky business" Mr W H Haygood a leading real estate agent says During the past few months there have been more houses sold on the installment plan than ever before during the same time Col John D Grant and Mr Chas F Brayton two of the wealthiest men in the city are mourning over the fact that where last year their house stood empty they are now filled with tenants Plasterers and paper-hangers report more business in fixing up small houses than ever before says the Chess-Carley company wholesale dealers in oil and the dealers in provisions and the small merchants invariably answer that their sales are improving" writes Col C W Adair One stricken groceryman adds My business has increased 100 per cent in the last year while the large dry goods firm of Draper Moore & Co in answer to the inquiries of the Voice writes More improvements both in number and amount are in progress and preparation in Atlanta right now than in Savannah Augusta Macon Columbus and Rome—the five largest cities in Georgia. This is awful—for the whisky men.

For more testimony of a similar character see letters in another column "Business in Atlanta" —Voice N Y

Reviewing the San Francisco merchandise market for last week the Commercial News says [illegible] the season lately ended the shipments of citrus fruits through the East according to figures first received aggregated 3 [illegible] pounds or [illegible] car loads This is a considerable increase on last year the total then being [illegible] pounds The green fruits shipped this year to the end of August weighed [illegible] pounds and called for [illegible] cars to move it The demand for canned fruits during the past week has been less active [illegible] have remained firm for all kinds particularly peaches and pears which are scarce and any increase in the demand causes higher prices There is no change in the [illegible] situation the market remaining firm and in seller's favor The spirit [illegible] as shortly [illegible] nothing to the stocks It is thought that the pack in British Columbia will not exceed 150 000 cases [illegible] Sacramento [illegible] over and added [illegible] cases to the supply of the coast While the [illegible] active the sales show a [illegible] standard goods can now be quoted less than [illegible] The market for mixed [illegible] an active demand and lighter [illegible] is very scarce and [illegible] the trade until the arrival of [illegible] December Higher prices may then be looked for in the near future [illegible] No 1 are expected soon but [illegible] higher prices in the primary market [illegible] here will doubtless be higher than formerly Nut oil is lower Liverpool salt is 60 cents [illegible] higher than at date of last review There is a good demand for sugars both to supply the local [illegible] for shipment to the East The [illegible] with an advancing tendency [illegible]

FREIGHTS—The situation is less favorable to owners but asking rates are not changed

WHEAT Receipts [illegible] free but there is only a fair [illegible] doing Transactions reported show no change in values [illegible] highest prices are beyond what some will pay [illegible] valley sales continue at $1 22½@1 25 the latter for west side delivery and quite freely paid Walla Walla grades can not be purchased at less than $1 16¼@1 17½ but bids seldom exceed $1 15 There is a report of a large sale the wheat to go into ship now here for foreign account Foreign markets wear a weak front in the face of political complications and far from brilliant harvest prospects

OATS—Only a fair business doing, but receipts continue liberal The market is without new feature

EGGS—Receipts again lighter but 18c has been slightly shaded to-day

ANOTHER VIEW

SALEM Sept 6

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your Sunday issue you gave a dismal view of business in Atlanta since prohibition went into effect I send you another view also vouched for by influential citizens. And may I remark that if [illegible] liquor men so constantly affirm "prohibition does not prohibit" and "there is more liquor sold under prohibition than under license," why is not Atlanta more prosperous under the new regime If prohibition is a flat failure" "impossible of enforcement" what difference can it possibly make to the prosperity of Atlanta?

ENQUIRER

DISASTROUS EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION IN ATLANTA."

Prohibition took effect in the city of Atlanta July 1 Just listen to the visible effects it has had on the business interests of the city The present mayor of the city writes us "All kinds of business are I think better than they were a year ago except the whisky business" Mr W H Haygood a leading real estate agent says During the past few months there have been more houses sold on the installment plan than ever before during the same time Col John D Grant and Mr Chas F Brayton two of the wealthiest men in the city are mourning over the fact that where last year their houses stood empty they are now filled with tenants Plasterers and paper hangers report more business in fixing up small houses than ever before says the Chess-Carley company wholesale dealers in oil and the dealers in provisions and the small merchants invariably answer that their sales are improving" writes Col C W Adair One stricken groceryman adds My business has increased 100 per cent in the last year while the large dry goods firm of Draper Moore & Co in answer to the inquiries of the Voice writes More improvements both in number and amount are in progress and preparation in Atlanta right now than in Savannah Augusta Macon Columbus and Rome the five largest cities in Georgia. This is awful—for the whisky men.

For more testimony of a similar character see letters in another column Business in Atlanta.—Voice N Y
